DETAILED ACTION

1. Acknowledgment is made in the receipt of the amendment filed October 7, 2005.

Specification

2. The amendment filed October 7, 2005 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: the additions to paragraph 3 on page 5 and paragraph 2 on page 7 are considered new matter. The originally filed specification fails to provide support for the elastic material having a larger stiffness than the coil spring.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The stiffness of the elastic material relative to the coil spring is not disclosed in the originally filed specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 3,141,660 to Clarke et al.

Re-claim 1, Clarke et al. disclose a closed end type coil spring, characterized in that a coupler 12 is fixedly mounted between an outer peripheral surface of a terminal convolution, the terminal convolution is partially flattened; and an outer peripheral surface of a subsequent convolution to the terminal convolution, such that the coupler is brought into close contact with the outer peripheral surface of each of the terminal convolution and subsequent convolution (see figure), whereby and amount of deflection of the coil spring is decreased, see column 1 lines 24-36.

Re-claim 2, the coupler is an elastic material, note the cross hatching in the figure.

7. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 3,169,757 to Roder et al.

Re-claim 1, Roder et al. disclose a closed end type coil spring, characterized in that a coupler 5 is fixedly mounted between an outer peripheral surface of a terminal convolution 9, the terminal convolution is partially flattened; and an outer peripheral surface of a subsequent convolution 9 to the terminal convolution, such that the coupler is brought into close contact with the outer peripheral surface of each of the terminal convolution and subsequent convolution (see figure 1), whereby and amount of deflection of the coil spring is decreased.

Re-claim 2, the coupler is an elastic material, see figure 3 or 4.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 2 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
